

Water Wise Plant Nurseries

Looking for plants that don't use a lot of water?

Our thanks to many local nurseries for providing customers with a selection of water-wise plants.

Remember that these plants do not need much water, so be careful not to over-water them.

Looking to install beautiful, low-maintenance landscaping that won't burst your water budget? Just click on over to San Jose Water Company's GardenSoft website for some ideas to get your started.

Where do I find water-wise plants?

There are many nurseries in the Bay Area that carry a variety of water-efficient plants appropriate for our climate. These nurseries also have trained staff to help with your questions. Below is a list to get you started.

Being mindful of water conservation takes place both inside and outside of the home. Landscape is one of the most water-hungry impacts to our water supply. However, nurseries and public demonstration gardens around the Bay Area offer residents examples of how to be water-wise by conserving water, improving local water quality and wildlife habitat - all while maintaining a beautiful garden.
